Specs: Polaris two-cylinder liquid cooled 500 cc engine with flatslide carbs provides significantly easier throttle pull and improved throttle response. EDGE Chassis features aluminum die-cast bulkhead made of lightweight construction and overall build consists of 150 fewer parts than many previous models. Designed with improved ergonomics for exceptional rider position, comfort, and warmth. Controlled Roll Center (CRC) Design delivers effortless handling, flatter cornering and superior stability. EDGE Rear Suspension provides 13.9" of rear axle travel, and 9.8" of true vertical travel for razor-sharp handling and cornering with excellent weight transfer for optimum performance. EDGE IFS provides the industry's most travel with up to 10.3" for an exceptional ride, handling, and coupled with a longer wheelbase for a more stable ride. Progressive Link Ratio: Rear suspension torque arms are designed to minimize bottoming and improve small bump handling. Fox® Position Sensitive rear shock automatically softens the damping in the middle of the travel range—"the ride zone"—right where you need it the most. But it firms up instantly to reduce bottoming and rebound "kick" over big bumps.
